

LENUS is Ireland's most comprehensive online repository of health-related reports, research and official publications. LENUS was created by the staff of the HSE Regional Library & Information Service in Dr. Steevens' Hospital, Dublin, and it intended that LENUS, the Irish Health Repository, will be used to store and preserve all research activity, both published and ongoing in Ireland.

LENUS would like to make all Irish health research/publications freely and openly available and to have links to the completed research, if possible. If you would like your research to be included on the LENUS database, you may e-mail your research to Bennery Rickard, Regional Librarian, or Aoife Lawton, Lenus Project Manager, at regionallibrary@hse.ie.